

ABSTRACT

Internet Service Providers (ISPs) are companies or entities that provide services to access or use the Internet. ISP services in the form of internet access, internet transit, registration for domain names, web hosting, Usenet services, and colocation. Microtic is one router that is widely used by ISPs and system administrators such as internet cafes, game centers, offices, schools, etc. The router itself is a very important element in the internet network that will be built, especially with its function as a regulator of data connections from one computer to another. PT. iForte Global Internet is a provider of internet services and services as an ICT (Information and Communication Technology) solution. Usually PT. iForte Global Internet provides internet services and services for large companies such as BCA, Police, PT. Kalbe, etc.

Keywords: ISP, Mikrotik, Router, Internet