ABSTRACT

The strategy to develop a business in the current millenial era will not be enough if it is not accompanied by the use of information technology. The use of information systems in the form of applications in running and managing business is widely used in Indonesia. POS or Point of Sale, where this application is a combination of software and hardware that enables merchants to transact and simplify day-to-day business operations. Development This application uses the programming language PHP, HTML, CSS and Javascript. Combined with the Bootstrap and Codeigniter framework. In this POS also features CRUD Package that can attract customers with prices that have been modified.

Keywords: Point of Sales (POS), HTML, framework, CRUD Package.