

ABSTRACT

Kedaireka is an official platform established by the Ministry of Education and Culture with the aim of fostering partnerships between Higher Education Institutions and the Business/Industrial sector, in preparation for jointly seeking matching fund grants. The industry has the opportunity to present business problems or business cases that can be collaboratively addressed with the academic community (involving university leadership, faculty members, and students). As a result, the Android application named TernaKu was developed, serving as an integrated livestock investment platform that combines three applications: mobile, web, and IoT devices.
