

Abstract

Job Internship Training is a work training process to gain sufficient experience for students so that after graduating they are ready to enter the real world of work. So, the existence of the Certified Independent Study and Internship (MSIB) program is one way to improve the skills obtained in college in order to gain new knowledge and experience in the world of work which will be very useful when students graduate. The Skilvul Virtual Internship Challenge certified internship program can equip students with hard skills and soft skills to answer digital talent needs, especially Front-End Web Development. This internship program runs for 5 months starting from August 3 to December 21 2022. In this internship program, learning material is provided about Basic Web Development, then Advanced Web Development and finally Front-End Development as well as a final project in the form of a challenge chosen at the start of the program. . The challenge chosen by the author is a Health Partner with the aim of solving the problem of health access in the form of a Web-Based Medical Record System.

Keywords: Internship, Front-End, Web