

ABSTRACT

Tourist attractions in Central Java, especially those in Purwokerto, have very many potential tourist destinations. Various tourist attractions that can be visited from natural attractions, beaches, and recreation areas and the lack of need to obtain information quickly and easily about tourism, these reasons are the reasons for the author making a tourist information system in making web-based information systems so that this website refers to any site which has been made to introduce tourist attractions in the city of Purbalingga so that people who are outside know the tourist objects in the city of Purwakarta, so that the tour company is able to display information on tourist objects that aim to inform and recognize the identity of the tourist spots via the web on tours. So that this website usually uses domain extensions or websites in a community that share information between people as a virtual information board or a place for discussion on touristsites

Keywords: Tourism, web, geographic information system