

ABSTRACT

Education is a learning process to improve quality life and human resources in a better direction, because of education determine the development and progress of a nation. Education is a process learning for students which aims to be able to understand, understand and can develop the potential within him to have an intelligence and also knowledge that later can be useful for both yourself and others other. Education can be called a conscious effort that occurs systematically to achieve a standard of living. Education can be obtained in two ways, namely both formally and informally non-formal, formal education can be obtained by following programs that have been structured or planned by a state ministry, department or institution, while for non-formal education it can be obtained from everyday life that can be learned from others and also experience, whether experienced by oneself or by others. The standard of the educational process is a matter related to implementation of learning in an educational unit that is useful for achieve an existing graduation competency standard, thus Graduate competency standards are the main source or reference in determining the standard of the educational process, therefore the standard of the educational process can be formulated and applied if the competency standards of graduates have been compiled.