

Abstract

Work practice is a program created by most campuses in Indonesia that requires students in the campus to experience the world of work. The term work practice has several terms such as street vendors, practical work or internships but still the same. In practice, it is recommended that it be in accordance with the field of study that the student is living. Work practices will have a big impact on students, this is in utilizing the knowledge that students have while studying on campus. That way students have a real picture of the world of work they enter.
