Technological developments have affected several sectors of life. One of the uses of technology is in the tourism sector. One form of technology used in the tourism sector is a website-based tourist village information system. However, there are still villages that have not yet taken advantage of this technology. One of these villages is Kemutug Lor Village, which is located in Baturaden District, Banyumas Regency. In order to advance the village of kemutug lor, an information system for the village of kemutug lor was created. The purpose of making the information system is to introduce several tours that are within the scope of the village, introduce the culture that exists in the village, inform several activities or events that will be held in the village, sell MSME products from the village and offer tour packages made by the village for tourists. . From such a system, it is hoped that it can encourage the village economy and make the village of kemutug lor known by local and foreign tourists.
