The Banyumas Education Office accepts students who wish to do Field Work Practices to help with the assignments needed in the department at the education office. For this reason, data collection is needed for students who want to do PKL at the Banyumas Education Office. Field work training is one of the secondary school subjects vocational education in which students and society specifically participate in the world of work. Students receive the knowledge intended to be taught in SMK by requiring high Pancasila values in order to be able to face the world of work. The Banyumas Regency Education Office is part of government affairs in the education sector and is responsible to the regional governor and secretary. With the creation of a website-based Data Collection on the Field Work Practice of the Education Office using the Prototype Method, officers from the Community Section of the Banyumas Education Office can input existing data and can stored for data collection purposes. The Prototype method itself functions to get an overview of the website that was built using the Prototype website design which will then be evaluated. After the Prototype application has been evaluated, it will then be used as an example to create an application that will be used as a product as output from making the Education Office Data Collection website. By using Sublime text and also PHPMyAdmin, you can create a website-based street vendor data collection, which then saves the data to the server to be stored or used as evidence in the form of a hard copy.
